

My family and I listen to satellite radio often and enjoy its variety and lack of commercials. We are happy to have the choice to pay for the service we want. We expect the FCC to support and encourage a full range of programming options and to thwart any attempt to restrict our access.